

Ring of Beara

8-DAY SELF-GUIDED CYCLING TOUR

The Beara Peninsula

The Beara Peninsula is one of Ireland's most enchanting and unspoilt regions, offering a cycling experience rich in dramatic coastal scenery, peaceful backroads, and authentic Irish culture. Straddling the border between Counties Kerry and Cork, Beara is famed for its rugged landscapes, hidden coves, and warm local hospitality. Less travelled than the Ring of Kerry or Dingle Peninsula, Beara rewards those who venture here with an experience that feels truly wild, remote, and deeply connected to the essence of Ireland's southwest.

Cycling the Beara Peninsula takes you along quiet, winding roads that hug the Atlantic coastline, climb over mountain passes, and weave through picturesque fishing villages. The route showcases the very best of the Wild Atlantic Way — shimmering seascapes, windswept headlands, and ever-changing light over the Caha and Slieve Miskish Mountains.

HIGHLIGHTS

Scenic Coastal Views: The Beara cycle offers jaw-dropping views at every turn — from rugged cliffs and secluded beaches to tranquil bays framed by towering mountains.

Healy Pass: A breathtaking climb and descent through the Caha Mountains, Healy Pass is one of Ireland's most spectacular cycling routes, offering sweeping views across both sides of the peninsula.

Bere Island: Just a short ferry ride from Castletownbere, this peaceful island offers quiet roads, fascinating history, and panoramic coastal vistas — a perfect side trip for adventurous cyclists.

Castletownbere: The largest town on the peninsula, this bustling fishing port is full of character and makes an ideal stop for fresh seafood and local charm.

Dursey Island Cable Car: At Ireland's only cable car — and the only one in Europe crossing open sea — you can journey to Dursey Island, a haven of wildlife and solitude.

The Beara Peninsula is perfect for cyclists seeking an authentic Irish experience, where untamed landscapes, local stories, and small-village charm create an unforgettable journey through one of Ireland's most beautiful and lesser-known corners.

Your first cycle, from Tralee to Killarney, is a wonderfully scenic ride that captures the best of County Kerry's inland landscapes — a perfect balance of peaceful countryside, mountain vistas, and rewarding miles on quiet, winding roads. This route can be enjoyed as a 33 km direct ride or extended to a 53 km loop with an additional circuit around the stunning Muckross Lake, part of the world-famous Killarney National Park.

Leaving Tralee, the route leads you south through the tranquil backroads of Furies, a charming rural village surrounded by green pastures and framed by distant peaks. The terrain here rolls gently, making for a pleasant and relaxed cycle as you move deeper into the Kerry countryside. The quiet roads mean you can ride at your own pace, enjoying the sounds of nature and the crisp mountain air. As you continue toward Fossa, the scenery becomes increasingly dramatic — with glimpses of the MacGillycuddy's Reeks, Ireland's highest mountain range, rising in the distance.

The Killarney to Kenmare Cycle is one of the most breathtaking routes in Ireland, weaving through rugged mountains, serene valleys, and the untamed beauty of Kerry's wilderness. Spanning approximately 47 km, this journey offers a perfect blend of challenge and reward as you traverse quiet backroads, glacial valleys, and some of the most awe-inspiring landscapes on the Ring of Kerry.

A steady climb brings you into the heart of the mountains, following the famed road through the Gap of Dunloe, a narrow glacial pass lined with steep cliffs, cascading streams, and stone bridges that have stood for centuries. Each bend in the road reveals new scenery — from still mountain lakes to wild heather-covered slopes.

Descending into the remote Black Valley, you'll experience one of Ireland's most peaceful and atmospheric landscapes. This secluded glen, once one of the country's most isolated communities, remains a haven of natural tranquillity surrounded by towering peaks and lush meadows. From here, the road rises once again towards the panoramic heights of Moll's Gap, where breathtaking views over Kenmare Bay and the surrounding mountains reward your efforts.

The descent into Kenmare is pure cycling joy — smooth, winding roads that lead you gently toward this colourful, welcoming town. Leaving Eyeries, you'll follow the road west along rolling coastal terrain, with sweeping views across Coulagh Bay and the distant outline of the Slieve Miskish Mountains. The scenery becomes increasingly dramatic as you approach Dursey Sound, the westernmost tip of the Beara Peninsula. Here, you'll have the option to take the famous Dursey Island Cable Car – Ireland's only sea-crossing cable car and one of Europe's most remarkable travel experiences.
