Kingdom of Kerry

7-DAY GUIDED HIKING TOUR

Embark on an inspiring journey into the heart of Ireland's Kingdom of Kerry, the birthplace of our renowned Kerrygold butter, as it unfolds in all directions with breathtaking beauty, panoramic vistas, rich culture and welcoming people. Uncover the wonders of the Kingdom of Kerry alongside a seasoned Irish guide, gaining profound insight into the rhythmic heartbeat that brings this dynamic land to life. This adventure weaves five spectacular day hikes on the Dingle and Iveragh Peninsulas with explorations of picturesque seaside villages, archaeological sites, and other renowned attractions, creating a diverse and enriching experience.

The term "Kerry" derives from the Old Irish word "Ciarraige," signifying "the people of Ciar," an early Celtic tribe that established roots in the region around 300 BC. County Kerry is an ancient land abundant with historical, archaeological, and early Christian sites, some dating back more than 7,000 years. Merge this palpable history with vast stretches of verdant fields, storybook villages, and rugged coastlines. The outcome is an adventure of a lifetime, where every step resonates with the echoes of the past and the heart-warming beauty of the present.

Our Guided "Kingdom of Kerry" Hike departs monthly from May to September and explores our favourite locations in County Kerry.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Hike for five days in remote wilderness, discovering our favorite routes and hidden gems on the Dingle and Iveragh Peninsulas
- Journey through the Three Lakes of Killarney by boat
- Explore Ireland's first national park, Killarney National Park, and an ancient "butter road"
- Discover Sleat Head, one of the world's premier scenic drives, boasting a wealth of heritage sites
- Experience Ireland through the eyes of a local guide and who provides a rich trove of insights into history, Irish culture and points of interest

Kingdom of Kerry Guided Hike

DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1: Tralee

Your Kingdom of Kerry hiking tour begins in the delightful town of Tralee, gateway to the Dingle Peninsula. Founded by the Normans in 1216 and tucked in the foothills of the Slieve Mish Mountains, Tralee serves as the capital of County Kerry.

Upon settling into your hotel, gather with your guide and fellow tour participants for a briefing at 5 pm. Following, enjoy your inaugural dinner together at one of the town's best restaurants with the option to explore Tralee's lively pubs and vibrant music scene before returning to your accommodation.

NOTE: If arriving via Dublin, keep in mind that it takes approximately 5–6 hrs from the time your plane lands to arrival in Tralee, depending on your chosen mode of transport. For this reason, we recommend arriving a day early to Tralee. But if this is not possible, you will have most of the day to commute from Dublin to Tralee before the 5 pm meet-up time.

Brandon Point

Day 2: Brandon Point

This morning, depart from Tralee for a lovely coastal drive along the northern shore of Dingle Peninsula (approx 50 min), taking in stunning views of Brandon Bay. En route, visit the 14-km horseshoe-shaped Brandon Bay, a popular area for windsurfing, kite surfing and horseback riding. Not only is Brandon Bay the longest stretch of unbroken sand in Ireland, it's also one of the most stunning beaches in the country with breathtaking views

During our Brandon Point hike, step back in time as you follow the north western shores of the Dingle Peninsula to a place only accessible by foot. Marvel at vistas spanning Mount Brandon and Brandon Bay, where the possibility of spotting migrating whales and dolphins awaits. Traverse hills adorned with heather and thriving Irish peatland, and savour lunch while overlooking the breathtaking Sás Creek with its turquoise waters.

The name “Sauce Creek” originates from the Irish term “sás,” meaning trap, referring to the challenging currents that hinder boats from leaving the cove. The path navigates around the cliff summits, briefly diverting southward to reach the local highpoint, Fail an tSáis. Continuing westward, the trail ventures over progressively rugged terrain until reaching a stone bothy (shelter) positioned at the base of the mountain.

Conclude your walk by passing through a traditional peat harvesting site, where locals annually cut turf (peat) for winter heating.

En route to Tralee, we stop at a traditional Irish Pub to enjoy a refreshing beverage and chat about your inaugural hiking adventure. With over 7,000 scattered nationwide, pubs serve as the heart of social life in Ireland, embracing the motto “eat, drink, and be merry.” Savour a variety of brews or Irish whiskey, and unwind by a cozy fire and toe-tapping music—a perfect way to conclude a fulfilling day on the trails.

Non-hiking option for today is to explore Tralee while the group is on the trail. See “Exploring Tralee: Pre-Tour Recommendations” for suggested local attractions in and around Tralee.

Day 3: Slea Head

Another beautiful drive takes us to the Conor Pass this morning, Ireland's highest mountain pass standing at 456 meters (1496 ft) above sea level. Capture the breathtaking scenery at the peak of the glacial valley, surrounded by serene lakes and embraced by majestic mountains. Remnants of the last ice age, these valley lakes are referred to as kettle holes.

Descend into Dingle town and continue west to Slea Head — Europe's most western peninsula and one of the richest areas of archaeology in Ireland with its numerous beehive huts and promontory forts.

Experience a beautiful hike around breathtaking Slea Head, from Fahan to Dunquin, amidst picturesque Irish landscapes of stone walls, sheep-dotted pastures and rugged coastline.

Soak in the amazing views from Mount Eagle as you gaze across to the Blasket Islands. These Islands have a rich literary history and are responsible for some important works through the 19th century. Conclude your hike with a stroll along Coumeenooles Beach and dip your toes in the Atlantic surf.

Your day continues with a journey of discovery to the ancient sites dotted around the peninsula and a visit to the town of Dingle (potential sites visited outlined below):

Dunbeg Fort: A striking promontory fort with an impressive archaeological history.

Cashel Murphy: An ancient Celtic and pre-Celtic stone settlement where five families resided and Druids performed rituals.

Gallarus Oratory: One-room sandstone structure and the best preserved early church of its kind in Ireland.

Riase Monastic Settlement: An early medieval monastic site featuring a monastery, church, round houses, workshop and graveyards.

Blasket Centre: A heritage and cultural centre honouring the unique community on the remote Blasket Islands until their evacuation in 1953.

Dingle Town: With vibrant pubs, a bustling harbour and picturesque views, Dingle is the quintessential Irish seaside town. Stroll along the waterfront, indulge in the delectable local seafood or Murphy's handmade ice cream and check out the lively pub scene offering excellent beer and live music.

Transfer back to Tralee for a free evening.

Non-hiking option for today is to explore Tralee or Dingle while the group is on the trail.

Killarney National Park

Day 4: Mangerton Mountain

Depart Tralee for Killarney town, sitting on the shores of the Lakes of Killarney and at the edge of Killarney National Park.

Ireland is a land of stories and legends and today's hike takes us to one of the most storied mountains in this part of Ireland. Mangerton Mountain has many legends attached to it, the most famous relating to a glacial lake nestled near the summit, locally known as "The Devil's Punchbowl." Your guide will bring to life tales of the past, providing insights into why the lake has earned its name.

Begin your hike with a lengthy ascent paralleling the river to reach Devil's Punchbowl, where you pause to savour the scenic views and a snack before tackling the steep and rugged ascent to higher ground. From the summit admire wonderful vistas across Killarney national Park and beyond to the surrounding lands. The trail then descends back to the starting point.

Enjoy some leisure time in Killarney before we gather for an evening treat—a tour and dinner at Killarney Brewing & Distilling Co. Located just outside Killarney town, this state-of-the-art brewery offers lovely views of the MacGillycuddy Reeks, Gap of Dunloe, and the Lakes of Killarney. During the tour, we will gain fascinating insight into the world of brewing as our guide walks us through the nuances of each stage of the process. Delight in a tasting experience, savouring the freshest and most flavourful beer right from the brewery, before we treat our taste buds to a delicious dinner.

Derrynane Abbey Ruins

Day 5: Derrynane

After a scrumptious breakfast and armed with your picnic lunch, you will be transferred to the beautiful Derrynane House to explore the idyllic landscapes around Derrynane National Park.

Drive along the southern coast of the Iveragh Peninsula heading west along the world-famous Ring of Kerry (1.5 hour drive). En route, stop at Ladies View, named after Queen Victoria's ladies in waiting who visited in 1861, as well as a couple quaint villages.

Stop and explore the fascinating Staigue Fort, an imposing Iron Age Ring Stone Fort that ranks among the largest and most extraordinary in Ireland. Its awe-inspiring feature lies in the dry stone wall construction method, devoid of any cement or mortar, offering a glimpse into an intriguing chapter of history, whether it served as a Celtic Tribal Centre or a local chieftain's residence.

Embark on a spectacular hike, journeying through a variety of landscapes, including woodland, beach, farmland, and minor roads. The trail encompasses a scenic coastal walk, leading to Abbey Island and the ancient ruins of Derrynane Abbey from the 6th century. Gain insights into the life of historical figure Daniel O'Connell, "The Liberator," as you explore the trail bordering Derrynane Harbour with captivating coastal views. The journey continues uphill, connecting to a segment of the Kerry Way hiking trail, and descends into Derrynane National Historic Park, featuring 18th-century gardens and Derrynane House, Daniel O'Connell's ancestral home. Upon returning to Derrynane House, you can enjoy some delightful refreshments.

Your day's adventures continue as we veer off the main road to discover more gems on the Iveragh Peninsula. Some of our stops may include:

Waterville: Situated on the shores of Ballinskelligs Bay, Waterville was once a favourite holiday location for Charlie Chaplain and Walt Disney. Lough Currane, just outside Waterville, is home to Church Island with magnificent Early Christian monastic remains.

Cahergall Fort: Located near Cahersiveen, Cahergall Fort is a large stone fort constructed around 600 AD and is one of the best examples of early medieval stone forts found on the Ring of Kerry.

Kerry Cliffs: Widely acknowledged as the most breathtaking cliffs in the Kerry region, the Kerry Cliffs tower over 1,000 feet above the untamed Atlantic. These cliffs also offer the closest viewing point for the impressive Skellig Islands and are a popular spot for bird watching enthusiasts.

Portmagee: A charming fishing village with vividly painted houses, Portmagee lies at the southwest tip of Valentia Harbour. Once a refuge for smugglers and pirates targeting trade ships, it's now a tranquil haven. The Skellig Experience Visitor Centre presents exhibits and a film revealing the rich heritage of the Skellig Islands.

Transfer back to Killarney for an evening at leisure.

Killarney is a classic Irish town with quaint, shop-lined streets, gastropubs and friendly hospitality. With over fifty pubs and a myriad of restaurants, you won't need to look far for a delicious meal, pint of Guinness and toe-tapping Irish tunes. Music is one of the many ways that traditional Irish culture is being maintained; and, in Killarney, more than a dozen pubs and restaurants feature live Irish music nightly. The pub scene is a great way to meet and mingle with locals and maybe even join in on a song or two!

Non-hiking option for today is to explore Killarney or relax on the grounds of Derrynane House.

Muckross House

Day 6: Killarney National Park

Spanning 10,000 hectares, Killarney National Park presents a wonderful blend of mountains, lakes, woodlands, and waterfalls, including the renowned Lakes of Killarney. The park became Ireland's first National Park in 1932 and has been designated a Biosphere Reserve by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) for their work in conservation and research.

Arrive at the 15th-century Ross Castle, a formidable tower fortress built by an Irish Chieftain, O'Donoghue Mór on the shores of Muckross Lake. From here, embark on an enchanting boat ride through the picturesque Three Lakes of Killarney revealing panoramic views that can only be experienced from the water.

Conclude your boat journey at the remains of the 17th-century hunting lodge, Lord Brandon's Cottage. Here, a charming lakeside café awaits, offering a perfect spot to enjoy some refreshments before commencing your hike.

An old Mass Path used for centuries leads you along the shores of the lake through some of the oldest oakwoods in the park. Numerous picturesque photo spots and wildlife sightings enhance the trail experience. Keep an eye out for Native Red or Sika Deer, and stop at the Torc Waterfall, a lovely natural wonder fed by the Owengarriff River originating in "Devil's Punchbowl."

Lastly, visit Muckross House, a grand nineteenth-century Victorian mansion originally built for Henry Arthur Herbert and Mary Balfour Herbert. Constructed in Tudor style, this sixty-five room home exemplified the refined lifestyle of the 19th-century landowning class. The estate's extensive gardens were enhanced in the 1850s for Queen Victoria's visit. Meander through the neatly manicured gardens and learn about the history of the National Park.

This evening, journey back to Killarney for the grand finale – our group dinner and another opportunity to enjoy the Killarney pub scene.
